

Amendments to the Abstract:

In the specification, applicant submits a new abstract consistent with the claims pending in this application.

ABSTRACT

A method for displaying an image on a plurality of displays, each of which is in one of a plurality of elevator cabs. The method includes inspecting a playlist having first data leading to first information to be displayed; at least in part on the basis of the first data, retrieving the first information; assembling second data, the second data being representative of the image that includes the first information; and distributing the image to each display.